POVERTY MADE A CRIME. Verily is it true that "the poor make n new triends." In the northern States a no torious corruptionist, a briber of the legislature, is pardoned out of the penitentiary, and in these same States men are to be sent to the penitentiary for the crime of being poor. The legislature of New York has just passed a law making the penalty for "tramping" hard labor in the penitentiary for six months. Tramping is a public nuisance, and it is no doubt true that many vagabonds are strolling over the country, not searching for employment, but for the sole purpose of avoiding it. But under the operations of such a law many honest men will be punished for the crime of poverty, for it provides that any person who strolls about the country without lawful occasion and who is without visible means of support, shall be arrested. The law very explicit and severe in the cases of persons who enter buildings against the will of the owner, or who malicipusly injure the property of another. Poverty is a misfortune, but there should be no statutory enactment under which povse is made a crime. thought of sending a man to the penitentiary, because, having no home of his own, green grass his bed, and the canopy of heaven his coverlit. The very fact that there are but few tramps in prosperous times, when abor is in demand, shows that most of these poor creatures are made tramps more by the condition of the country than any fault of theirs. As the times become more prosper ous, the number of tramps diminish, which is another avidence to prove that tramps are not always criminals. The notorious vagrant should be made to charge the mode he has adopted for eking out a precarious existence, but it is better to permit ninety-nine such to continue their vocation, than for one innocent man to be sent to the penitentiary. The States strangely differ as to the methods of dealing with poverty. In New York the white man found strolling over the country is made a crimmal, and sent to the penitentiary. But in Kansas there are fifty thousand negro vagabonds strolling over the State, out of money, and out of employment; and instead of being arrested and sent to the penitentiary for the crime of poverty, they are made martyre and find at the expense of a misplaced philanthropy; and the strangest thing is that the people of New York, who send their tramps to the penitentiary, contribute money for the support of the negro tramps in Kansas. ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS. It was announced by telegraph yesterday that the house ways and means committee had determined to report a resolution naming Saturday, the twenty-ninth instant, as the day for adjournment. The Washington correspondent of the Herald, in view of the mportant business set to be acted upon by both houses, thinks this cannot be done. The earliest day at which the long session advarned since the forty-second congress was June 8.h. and in every case the legislative bill, which always excites much controversy, was reported at an earlier date than this year. In the classical regions of Deadwood

May be seen this remarkable maiden,
And you'd find that whatever she said would
Have weight in the game you pl-yed in;
For she stands by the side of the dealer,
And she passes the brandy and water,
And no one in town is genteeler
Than she is—the banges's daughter.
She smiles when the others are "smiling,"
And to lovers (of whom she has plenty)
She whispers, in tones most begulling,"
And when they have lost it they swear, oh,
In accordance with Deadwood custom,
And thisk it the maid was not fair, oh,

Ingersoil on Fear. "Fear is the dungeon of the mind and su perstition the dagger with which hypocrisy assassinates the soul. It is with these instru-ments that the church of to day is trying to make converts. I don't believe there is God who gives a hird wings and damns that bird because it flies. I do not believe any God ever endowed a human with the faculties of reason and damned him for following the holy light of that intellectual torch. You cannot convince me that a crown is waiting in heaven to clasp a brainless head. Suc people, it seems to me, would not make good angels. It is reasonable to suppose that once in a thousand years an agreeable sensatio would be created in heaven were some free thinking angel to vary the monotony and say 'No.' I am not here to abuse the people of the church; all I contend for is intellectual liberty. I don't care what church you beong to; I don't care what creed you believe don't care what God you worship; all I ask is that you give me and other people the

I don't see how it is possible for a man to e worth five or ten million dollars in a city full of want, where he meets almost every day the withered hands of beggary and the white lips of famine. How a man can with-stand all that, and hold in the clutches of his hand twenty or thirty million dollars, is past my comprehension. I should not think he could do it any more than he could keep a pile of lumber when hundreds and thousands were drowning in the sea. If you have but a dollar in the world, and you have got to apend it, spend it like a king; spend it as though it were a dry leaf, and you the owner of unbounded forests. That's the way to spend it. I would rather be a beggar and spend my last dollar like a king, than he a king and spend my money like a beggar.
